FORVIA recognized as Climate Leader with CDP “A” Rating for Third Consecutive Year

FORVIA, global automotive supplier, has once again been recognized for its leadership in climate action. For the third year in a row, CDP has awarded FORVIA an “A” rating for its efforts to reduce carbon emissions and mitigate climate risks across its operations and value chain.

This distinction underscores FORVIA’s commitment to achieving net-zero emissions by 2045 and driving sustainable mobility solutions. The company’s strategy combines science-based targets, strong corporate sustainability governance, transparent communication, innovative technologies, and close collaboration with partners to accelerate the transition toward a low-carbon future. FORVIA is underway meeting its near-term SBTi milestone in 2025 by deploying renewable electricity and improving energy efficiency across all sites.

“Receiving an ‘A’ rating from CDP for the third consecutive year reflects our unwavering dedication to sustainability and transparency. This recognition underscores FORVIA’s commitment to delivering tangible climate action, accelerating innovation, and creating long-term value for all stakeholders.” said Victoria Chaniel, Executive Vice President, Group Communication, Public Affairs and Sustainability of FORVIA. “We are proud to lead the way in decarbonizing the automotive industry and creating solutions that benefit both people and the planet.”

CDP is a global non-profit that evaluates companies on their environmental performance and disclosure. CDP’s scoring methodology aligns with leading frameworks such as TCFD (Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures) and plays a critical role in guiding investment, procurement, and regulatory compliance toward a net-zero, nature-positive economy.

An “A” rating places FORVIA among the top performers worldwide in climate leadership.
